

USCCB Supports Comprehensive Immigration Reform

The Justice for Immigrants Campaign of the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops (USCCB) has developed many resources to use to advocate for comprehensive immigration reform. Visit the campaign's website at www.justiceforimmigrants.org.

To go to the JFI resource web page with such materials as homily helps, bulletin inserts in English and in Spanish with advocacy information, a pulpit announcement and backgrounders on questions about immigration reform which can be used in your contacts with legislators, go to:

Did You Know? The five Catholic bishops of the Province of Atlanta released a statement in November 2006 urging the Congressional representatives of Georgia, North Carolina and South Carolina to work for “comprehensive reform of immigration law through civil dialogue, in the spirit of cooperation and love.” The five (arch)dioceses of the Atlanta Province are: Atlanta, Charleston, Charlotte, Raleigh and Savannah.
